

A microscopic view of a honeycomb, showing a grid of hexagonal cells. The cells are filled with a golden-yellow substance, likely honey, and are arranged in a regular pattern. The background is a light, textured surface, possibly a piece of paper or fabric, with some faint greenish-yellow spots.

Lindenhonig

- frisch geschleudert: leicht beweglich, hell, zartgelblich bis fast zartgrün
- kandierte: heller, weich und feinkörnig
- Geschmack: in reiner Form fast bitter, mit weiteren Beimischungen angenehm aromatisch